National award winning filmmaker, Subhash Ghai will give away the awards to the winners. The festival will also have various discussions by acclaimed filmmakers: Supriyo Sen, Amalan Dutta, Nandan Saxena, Anusya Vaidya.

The films touch upon sensitive subjects such as Mumbai's night rat killers, life of primitive tribes, sex workers, seaweed collectors. Apart from screening of the films, there will be discussion, dance and drama as part of the festival, for which entry will be free.

Jeevika: Asia Livelihood Documentary Festival is organised by the Centre for Civil Society, a public policy think tank based in New Delhi. The documentary festival is a part of the larger Livelihood Freedom Campaign 'JEEVIKA' which helps develop public policy measures to clear the path for livelihood freedom.
